The whole map is laminated and at the points where the map folds there's a break in the map so only the clear plastic lamination folds. I thought it was kind of weird at first to have breaks in the map like that, but then I realized that this way would keep roads/towns on the creases from becoming hard to read over time, and I think that's pretty clever. The front of the map has central MD and DE, the back has the panhandle and some city insets. The map isn't terribly huge, so there's not really much detail beyond the main roads, but since that's what I wanted I'm ok with that.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful.
